In my G5 class, I have the students in self-selected small groups for them to study, practice and perform songs. In rotations, I work with 1 group. 2 work independently and Nico was supposed to work with the 4th group. Several times I saw him playing for the students instead of assisting. Other times they wouldn't be playing at all and combing through his social media. Knowing that he showed me a nearly nude picture, I insisted that he stop sharing his private life with my students.
